End liver disease.

The liver is a vital organ that performs many critical life-sustaining functions. A healthy liver has the amazing ability to regenerate when damaged, but when a liver fails, life is threatened.

Liver disease directly touches the lives of 30 million Americans, more than the entire population of the 15 largest U.S. cities. Nearly 100 liver diseases affect men, women and children of every age and ethnicity from every social and economic background.

Many liver diseases are on the rise, yet some are preventable or reversible and easier to treat if detected early. Therefore, our work to raise awareness and provide education is critical.

Funds raised by the Liver Life Walk provide life-saving research, education, support and advocacy. More than 78 cents of every dollar raised by the American Liver Foundation is directed to programs and services.

Together, we will end liver disease and build a healthier America.
